Average 5 days to complete all staff vetting's

Recruitment Agencies and Recruitment Process Outsourcing organisations (RPOs) are under intense scrutiny to perform the right background and pre-employment screening checks on all their potential applicants.

For the staffing agency, delivering the best and most reliable talent is a mission critical part of their business, but in-house vetting procedures are not always sufficient – and the cost of a bad hire can be crippling to both the client and agency alike. We also appreciate the tight deadlines that recruitment agencies need to work to and can easily scale up on any large projects with 48 hours' notice. We work alongside many large, medium and small recruitment agencies and RPO service providers.
